

THE CENTRAL RECORD

PURE RELIGION, UNTARNISHED DEMOCRACY AND GOOD GOVERNMENT.

LANCASTER, KY., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 4 1912.

NUMBER 26.

TWENTY THIRD YEAR.

GET IN THE SWIM

The tide is coming, our business is growing, and we are compelled to carry a larger stock of

Buggies, Hardware and Farming Implements

The people have found a place where they can get good goods at fair prices.

Come and swell the crowd, increase the sales, reduce the cost.

OUR MOTTO:
Live and Let Live.

CONN BROTHERS
Lancaster, Ky.

Mrs. Collier Improving.

We are glad to be able to report Mrs. J. B. Collier as showing marked improvement, and her relatives and friends are hoping for a speedy recovery. Mrs. Collier suffered a stroke of paralysis last week.

New Exchange.

The Estill Tribune, a welcome addition to our exchange list. It is published at Irvine by Grant E. Lily, an experienced newspaper man, is a bright newsy sheet, and better still is a red hot democratic sheet.

Schools Run Him Out.

Chief of Police Herron has given up his office and also the Police Court room to the schools, and has desk room at Judge Harris' office. All persons desiring to pay taxes will call at the latter place where either Mr. Herron or Judge Harris will wait on them.

The Sick.

Miss Alberta Anderson is suffering from an attack of typhoid fever, not however in a malignant form, we are glad to state. She is doing nicely and it is hoped that the disease has about run its course. Mr. William Anderson is improving, as is Miss Bessie Prather and the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ware.

Wheat Sowing.

Farmers are busily engaged in sowing wheat and the weather is ideal for that work. The splendid quality of the crop harvested this year has proven a stimulus and an increased acreage is being planted this season. A great many tobacco patches are already green with rye and barley sown after the tobacco was cut, this means good fall grazing.

Diphtheria in County.

Special attention is called to the circular issued by the State Board of Health which we reproduce in full in this issue of the Record, and suggest that it be given careful attention. This dread disease has already made its appearance in this county, in one locality it having become necessary to close the school because of it.

November 25th We Have It Right This Time.

The Record has made several unsuccessful attempts to herald the correct date of Mr. Ed C. Gaines' corn show, and by the aid of a calendar, the Farmer's Almanac and Mr. Gaines, we are now sure that we have it correct. The show is to be on county court day NOVEMBER 25th, all other dates published to the contrary notwithstanding.

Mr. John M. Sanders Buys Another Store.

Mr. J. M. Sanders of Marksbury has purchased of Mr. Henry Arnold his store, dwelling house and all appurtenances at Hyattsville Ky. and will take possession on January 1st. His son James Sanders will occupy the dwelling and conduct the business. Mr. Sanders already has three sons in the mercantile business, Roy W. at Nina, Jesse at Marksbury and Boone at Hubble.

Louis Brown Buys Fayette Farm.

A farm generally known as the Sheehan farm, located on the Georgetown pike, about four miles from Lexington, was sold Saturday to L. H. Brown, who recently sold his farm near Bryantsville. The property consists of about 100 acres of high grade land, good residence of six or seven rooms and several out houses and is considered a very valuable property. Mr. Brown will move to the property and take full possession January 1, 1913. The price was not made public, as the sale was made privately, but is said to be a good figure. — Jessamine Journal.

Revival At Christian Church Closes After More Than Two Weeks, And Was Prolific Of Much Good.

The revival at the Christian church closed on Wednesday night, much to the regret of the entire community. The series of meetings have been in progress for more than two weeks and have been very successful, about thirty five persons having united with the church, either by letter or otherwise. The Rev. Rudy who has been conducting the meeting was an unusually forceful speaker, and one who called "a spade a spade" without fear or favor.

The Truant Officer Will Get You If You Don't Watch Out.

The Record has just printed for Sup't. Jennie Higgins a big supply of delinquent notices which she will at once mail out to parents whose children have been reported as not attending school regularly. A record is kept of each parent to whom one of these notices is sent, and if they do not show reason at once or start the kiddies to school, a warrant will be immediately issued for them in compliance with the law so provided. This means regular attendance, not one day just to say the child has been to school. Better put them in school and keep them there, where they belong.

Garrard County Boy Loses An Eye In Virginia.

Mr. Thompson Arnold Jr. has just returned from Kelsa Va. where he was called by an injury sustained by a younger brother Walter Arnold, who is employed in a saw mill at that place. During the noon hour while in his room young Arnold became involved in a friendly scuffle with a friend named Coleman when the latter playfully struck him with a tightly folded newspaper, the blow cut the ball of young Arnold's eye so badly that he was hastened to a hospital in Pittsburg Pa., where it was necessary to remove the injured eye. The injured eye had been sightless for many years. The young man was doing well after the operation and Mr. Thompson Arnold tells us he expects to be out of the hospital within a couple of weeks.

Fire Prevention Proclamation.

Gov. J. B. McCreary has issued a proclamation setting apart October 8th as a day on which to give special attention to the removal from premises of rubbish and all articles that might produce spontaneous combustion. He says that the loss in this country every year amounts to more than $200,000,000 which might be curtailed to a certain extent by proper precaution. Former Gov. August E. Wilson inaugurated the idea of setting a day apart on which to clean up premises and Gov. McCreary intends to carry out the idea. The losses by fire in this country, of insured property total every year to more than two hundred million dollars, and are largely in excess of that of any other civilized nation. There is a loss which can be curtailed by proper precaution. The large payments by insurance companies as well as the enormous personal loss of property which is uninsured is an expense which should be decreased.

Must Walk The Straight And Narrow Path.

The kiddies who play "hooky" and the hunters who expect to hunt without licence are to be in the same class from now on, both are to have special officers for their individual benefit. The truant officers will look after the former and the game warden the latter. And to make assurance doubly sure, Executive Agent Quincy Ward will have several of the latter throughout the state with "roving commissions", that is who will have no special field of labor, but will be empowered to arrest or indict marauders wherever they may be found. The first duties of these "rovers" will be to inspect counties where no wardens have yet been appointed. They will work under secret orders, and their whereabouts will be known only to Mr. Ward. Some of the pot hunters who expect to slip out and bag a load of game without the formality of securing a license, or pulling one end of a big seine, need not be surprised if at the following meeting of the grand jury an indictment is returned against him and the witness one whom he least suspected.

The Womans Club met Wednesday afternoon in the annex of the Christian church with Mrs. J. B. Kinnaird as leader, subject "School Improvement". Mrs. Theo Currey read an interesting paper on "How Mothers Should Advance the Interest of their Children".

Good Attendance.

About all the farmers and stock men of Garrard county who can possibly get away from the farm duties are attending the big sales in Stanford this week. The attendance is reported as large and the bidding as spirited.

Invalids Return.

Messrs Sam Haselden and Will Champ have returned from Norton's Infirmary and the Deaconess Hospital in Louisville. Both gentlemen are in splendid condition considering their severe illness, but they will each put in several weeks recuperating before resuming their duties.

Held To Grand Jury.

Percy Hager who shot and killed his brother William Hager on Sunday September 22nd near Bryantsville, came in to town on Tuesday and surrendered to the authorities. His examining trial was held on Thursday before county Judge A. D. Ford, and he was held in the sum of $1000. to await the action of the November grand jury. He gave the bond and was released from custody.

A Thrifty City.

Mr. J. C. Thompson in remitting for his Record, takes occasion to give us a few interesting facts about his adopted city, San Diego Cal. He says that the city is growing at the rate of 1100 per month and that it is with difficulty that adequate school quarters can be provided. They already have 4 fine school buildings with four more in course of construction and even with these will need more, while dwellings are going up at the rate of 175 to 200 per month. They are also improving their harbor to the extent of $1,000,000.

Cox-Rasnick.

Mrs. Eliza Jane Rasnick and Mr. Robert L. Cox secured license on last Thursday and were made man and wife by Rev. O. P. Bush. This is the second venture for both of the contracting parties. Mrs. Rasnick removed to this county from eastern Kentucky on the first day of last January, she having purchased the W. G. Goch farm near Point Leavell. Mr. Cox is well known here, having resided in the county all his life. The "newly weds" will reside at Point Leavell.

Young Men's Bureau.

Representative Stanley F. Reed, of Mason county, has taken charge of the Young Men's Bureau of the Democratic State Campaign Committee, and will be actively engaged in enlisting the support of young men, especially first voters, for the Wilson and Marshall ticket. Gibney Oscar Letcher, of Henderson, is vice chairman of the bureau. The members of the bureau are: State-at-large, C. B. Thompson, Covington, and Elwood Hamilton, Frankfort; First district, K. H. Scott, Paducah; Second, Leigh Harris, Henderson; Third, W. V. Perry, Russellville; Fourth, Wallace Brown, Bardstown; Fifth, Pratt Dale, Louisville; Sixth, John J. Howe, Carrollton; Seventh, H. S. Breckinridge, Lexington; Eighth, John M. Farra, Lancaster; Ninth, Sherman Goodpaster, Owingsville; Tenth, John Hopkins, Prestonsburg; Eleventh, Ed Dishman, Barbourville.

An Attractive Display.

On last Saturday The Joseph Mercantile Company celebrated their 6th annual Fall Opening which was by far the most excellent display that has been given in Lancaster at any previous time. In addition to their beautiful display of fall and winter merchandise there were beautiful floral decorations consisting of all sorts of pretty ferns and begonias which were arranged in a very artistic manner.

The crowd that attended was the largest that has been seen at any opening heretofore and it was well that so many of the friends and patrons of this concern turned out even though the weather was unfavorable as each and every person who attended was presented with a handsome bride or bridemaid rose while the pretty strains of music floated o'er the entire building. It may be added in conclusion that their stock is larger than ever before and their merchandise better if that be possible, and is sufficiently complete to accommodate their host of friends and patrons.

City Notice.

Taxes are due. Come in and pay them promptly and avoid the penalty which goes on in a short time. Water rates will also soon be due and must be paid promptly. Have your money ready. The improvements to the streets, the expense of keeping them up and the general running expenses of the town takes money just the same as it takes money to run your business. We have taken advantage of the low price of coal prevalent early in the season and purchased a sufficient supply to run the water plant through the winter. This coal must be paid for. My office is now at the shop of Judge E. W. Harris. Call there and settle your water rate and taxes promptly. If I am not there Judge Harris will issue a receipt. L. E. Herron, 10-6-3c.

Illiteracy in Kentucky must cease, or at least be reduced to the minimum, and the old state is destined in the near future to take her place among the foremost as one of the most enlightened states in the Union. At least such is to be the case if the efforts of the educators of the state do not prove futile. The old adage that "a bird that can sing and won't must be made to sing" is to be put into active practice, and the children of school age in Kentucky are to be sent to school, whether they will or no, and what is much more vital, whether their parents will or no. No more "staying at home to help with the crop" for children of school age. No more hooky for the kids. If the children are not in school, the teacher will know the reason, then the missing ones will be reported to the county superintendent, who will in turn serve notice on the parent, and unless the child is sent to school, not for a day, but regularly, warrants will be issued and the law applied to the fullest extent. The school census will be carefully scanned, tab will be kept on every child, and the school authorities will see to it that each and everyone of them are given the benefit of the advantages for which the people are taxed, that they receive every day schooling that is provided for them by law. This is but right. There has been too much illiteracy prevalent in Kentucky in the last decade. We boast proudly of our enlightenment, of our many famous men, beautiful women and other things of which we are justly proud, and then we fall far below the standard of a great many other states in the matter of education. In this age there is scant excuse for the keeping of children from school. Splendid educational facilities are provided for them, and in the cases of the indigent, even their books are furnished free. Better facilities without money and without price, to be had for the taking, than a few years ago, men now famous in our states history worked hard for, did farm chores, burned the midnight oil, did the hardest kind of manual labor in order that they might earn sufficient to enable them to secure an education not so thorough by half as is to be had now in our splendid free institutions for the mere asking.

We do not believe that there is a family in Garrard county in this present prosperous time who are compelled to deprive their children of schooling because of the fact that their services are absolutely necessary at home. We believe that the new compulsory education law is a good one, and we hope and believe that it will be appreciated by the parents of the state and county and that they will heartily co-operate with the school authorities in their efforts to enforce it.

The signs of the times indicate it, every thing points in that direction and we firmly believe that Gov. Woodrow Wilson will be elected president of the United States at the coming November election. But viewing the matter calmly from an unbiased standpoint, the "Bull Moose" sentiment seems to be on the wane, many there are who believe that considerable of the progressive strength will go to the democratic nominee. But the republican voter is muchly given to hanging round the door of the Log Cabin, and too much confidence cannot be placed in those who have followed the Progressive movement for a while, then becoming tired and seeking other quarters, going over to the democratic side of the house, many of them may and doubtless will do this, but a great many of them will return to their first love.

In view of this state of affairs, overconfidence upon the part of the democrats of the country is a very poor asset. More men have been beaten because of their over confidence than those who were doubtful and ran the race for all there was in it. A true saying is "that a scared dog runs the best race", and if the followers of Gov. Wilson will adopt the tactics of the scared dog, it will make the race all the more sure.

Politics are curious and ever changing and one can never tell just what may turn up. In the outset Roosevelt seemed to have the republican side of it all his own way, but over confidence is likely to prove his undoing, his utterances, are beginning to prove boomerangs and his strength is waning, where this strength will go, can not be foretold, but it is incumbent upon every democrat to put forth his every effort in behalf of his own candidate, to not depend upon the divided condition of the republican party, but on the other hand do everything possible toward more strongly cementing his own. Help the campaign fund along. This is a campaign which is financed by the people, be "one of the people".

The calling together of the democratic editors of the state in conference in Louisville was a piece of courteous conduct upon the part of Mr. Camden, a courtesy which has heretofore been overlooked by Kentucky politicians, but when viewed in the proper light, it was but a common piece of justice. Who does more to promote the welfare of the democratic party in this or any other state than the editors of the democratic papers. Until Mr. Camden took the initiative, the editor was ignored, so long as he supported the democratic nominees through the columns of his paper, he was considered as only doing his duty, and when all was over received but scant thanks for his services.

The keynote of Mr. Camden's speech, the principal message which he bore to the editors assembled, about sixty in number, representative newspaper men from all over the state, was the necessity of assisting the campaign fund, and surely no one realized better than John Camden, Chairman of the campaign Committee, that the most essential assistance to be obtained in to in the money raising effort was the hearty cooperation of the state press, the medium by which the urgent necessity will be voiced to the people who are so nobly assisting in the raising of the popular fund.

The newspaper man is human, he appreciates recognition as well as his more pretentious neighbor, and not one of the press boys but will voice the appreciation of the courtesy and kindly forethought of Mr. Camden in inaugurating the custom of calling them into the party councils.

Already doing everything within their power to further the interests of the democratic ticket, if such a thing be possible, Mr. Camden's conference will serve to stimulate and cause them to become even more zealous in the good cause.

Saves Leg Of Boy.
"It seemed that my 14-year old boy would have to lose his leg, on account of an ugly ulcer, caused by a bad bruise," wrote D. F. Howard, Aquone, N. C. "All remedies and doctors treatment failed till we tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and cured him with one box." Cures burns, boils, skin eruptions, piles. 25c at R. E. McRoberts & Son.

PREVENTION OF DIPHTHERIA.

Circular Issued By The State Board Of Health Of Kentucky.

To the health Officials, Physicians and People of Kentucky:

The unusual prevalence of diphtheria in many sections of the State makes it the duty of this Board to again call attention to the best known methods of preventing the occurrence and spread of this disease.

1. Diphtheria is both contagious and infectious, and is distinctly a preventable disease, being easily limited to the first case or cases. When it gets away from the primary cases and makes its escape upon the community somebody is to blame. The sooner we accept this as a sanitary maxim the sooner we shall begin to do our duties as individuals and communities.

2. On account of its frequency and fatality this disease is of far more importance to the people of Kentucky than smallpox, yellow fever or cholera.

3. When a child has sore throat, and especially if diphtheria is in the neighborhood, it should be immediately separated from other children until a competent physician has seen it and decided whether or not it is affected with a contagious disease.

4. If diphtheria, strictly isolate the case at once, in an up stairs room if possible, and as disconnected as practicable from the living and sleeping apartments of other children. No one except the physician and nurse should enter the room, and they should take every precaution not to carry the infection to others.

5. The board urges the hypodermic use of a standard antitoxin, such as Alexander's, in at least 5,000-unit doses, as soon as the disease is recognized or seriously suspected, and that this dose should be repeated or doubled within twelve hours unless marked improvement has taken place. If case is seen after the first twenty-four hours use from 7 to 25,000 units the first dose, depending upon severity. It recommends that immunizing doses of 1000 units be used for all children, and especially for all inexperienced relatives acting as nurses who have been seriously exposed.

6. Placard the house, and keep all other children, all having the care of children, and all who go where children are, away from it. Notify the health officer of the town or county within twenty-four hours, as the law requires, and he will co-operate with the physician and family to keep the disease from spreading.

7. The discharges from the mouth and nose, which especially contain the germs of the disease, should be received on soft cloths and burned, and other discharges should be disinfected, and all refuse from the sick room burned. All utensils used in feeding the sick should be washed separately from other dishes, and should remain some time in boiling water.

8. Disinfect all bed and body clothing, and other like things, as soon as removed, by immersion for at least six hours in a solution of chloride of lime, four ounces to the gallon of water. They may then be wrung out and put in the wash. Remember, however, that no disinfectant in the occupied sick room can do away with the necessity for abundant fresh air and sunlight.

9. The isolation of the patient should continue for ten days after all trace of the disease has disappeared, and until he has had a disinfecting bath and been clad in garments which have not been in the sick room. No person from a house where there is diphtheria should be permitted to go into public assemblies, and no child from a house where this disease has prevailed should be allowed to attend school without a certificate from the health officer that it is safe to do so.

10. After complete recovery, or death, always thoroughly disinfect the room and its contents, preferably with nascent formaldehyde, or where this is not available, by burning three pounds of sulphur, moistened with alcohol, for each 1,000 cubic feet of space, previously stopping all openings, and dampening the floor, bedding and clothing and leaving the room tightly closed for twelve hours. The room should then be thoroughly ventilated, and all ledges, woodwork, etc., washed with strong soap and rinsed with a disinfecting solution.

11. In case of death, the body should be wrapped in a sheet saturated in a disinfecting solution and buried without public service. In giving notice of death newspapers should state that it was from diphtheria, and that children, and those having the care of children, should not attend the funeral.

12. To be effective the precautions herein suggested should be rigidly observed. Imperfect isolation and disinfection are worse than useless, giving rise only to a false and misleading sense of security.

13. County and municipal boards of health have full authority under our laws to enforce these rules, and will fall short of their duty if they fail to do so.

14. Arrangements have been perfected under which county or city boards of health may procure Alexander's antitoxin at wholesale prices through this Board. A constant supply of fresh antitoxin is always on hand at Bowling Green. Details furnished upon application.

Copies of this circular, and of similar ones in regard to scarlet and typhoid fever and consumption, for free distribution, may be had upon application to the Board at Bowling Green.

By order of the Board.

WILLIAM BAILEY, M. D., President.

J. N. McCORMACK, M. D., Secretary.

HOT WEATHER POULTRY CARE

Remove Every Window and Substitute Wire Netting for Ventilation of Hen House.

It does not require much hard work to keep a flock in good condition in the summer, but absolute neglect will often completely destroy the winter egg-producing qualities of not only the old hens, but the pullets as well.

If you have not removed every window in the chicken house and substituted wire netting, in order to provide perfect ventilation, do so at once.

Better that the chicks roost in the trees than that they be confined in a vermin-ridden building.

Body lice will worry a flock to death, or so nearly so as to destroy its usefulness. These can be killed, but not easily.

Good insect powder will do the business. It should be applied with a powder spray by one person, while another holds the fowls by the legs so that the powder may reach every part of the skin through the disturbed feathers.

TURKEYS NEED LARGE RANGE

Small Pen in Town is Absolutely Not Suitable for Rearing Meat For Christmas Dinner.

For those persons in town who are thinking of raising a turkey or two in their back yards there is trouble in store. The back yard or pen is not the place for a bird which refuses to be domesticated, W. A. Lippincott, head of the poultry department at the Kansas Agricultural college, says.

The farm is the place to raise turkeys. They must have a good range. During the first few months it is better to give them no grain, but let them forage and eat bugs. If small turkeys are cared for in this way, the fatality will be much less.

Professor Lippincott suggests that you let some farmer take your young turkeys and rear them. You might arrange to pay a little rent to a farmer for allowing your birds to roam in his pastures. Then, along about Thanksgiving, all you have to do is to go out and harvest your turkey.

SHADE FOR CHICKEN COOPS

Shelter is Provided by Means of Sail Cloth Where Trees or Bushes Are Found Scarce.

By means of a sail cloth, duck, or factory cotton curtain shade may easily be supplied chickens where there are no trees or bushes. In such a case as illustrated herewith the stakes are about 2 feet long, and driven 4 to 6 inches in the ground. The curtain is fixed only at the corners. On the windy side the tying is closer to the ground than on the lee side. This is of special help in spring.

Keeping Birds Graded.
Be sure to grade your birds according to size as the weeks pass. When you find that some are outstripping the others, take them away and put them with birds of their own size. If you have toe-marked the feet and have put on legbands, you will be able to tell the facts regarding them at any time.

Here is where the value of records comes in. Keep an accurate record of every hatch, and then grade the birds without having to feel that if you mix them up you will not be able to tell them again when you want to know certain things about them.

WHY IT SUCCEEDS

Because It's for One Thing Only, and Lancaster People Appreciate This

Nothing can be good for everything. Doing one thing well brings success. Doan's Kidney Pills are for one thing only.

For weak and disordered kidneys. Here is reliable evidence of their worth. Mrs. A. Camden, Rowland, Ky., says: "At the time I began using Doan's Kidney Pills about two years ago I was suffering intensely from kidney complaint. When I stopped I could hardly straighten unless someone gave me assistance. Dark spots often floated before my eyes and my head pained me until I was almost crazy. A neighbor told me about Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a box. I took them according to directions and they helped me from the first. My system is now as free from kidney complaint as if I had never had it."

For sale by all druggists. Price 50 cts. Foster-Hiburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

STERN VISTA

Mrs. Tom Christopher is quite sick with heart trouble.

Mr. Will Rogers of Hazard is the guest of Miss Jennie Lee.

The meeting at the Presbyterian church closed Sunday night. Mrs. Abbott of Texas is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Barnett and other relatives.

Miss Lucinda Shinner spent Sunday in Lancaster, the guest of Mrs. Bastin and daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. James Christopher spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Myers near Danville.

Miss Campbell of Mercer, has been visiting her aunts Mesdames Hackley and Hamilton.

Mr. John Christopher and wife of Fayette Co. have been visiting Mr. Christopher's parents.

Dr. Cheek of Danville filled the pulpit at the Presbyterian church Sunday. He was accompanied by Miss Kiercamp a musician of Louisville, who added greatly to the music of the service.

Miss Lula Graham, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Graham died at her home near here last Friday after several weeks illness of typhoid fever. The family has the sympathy of the entire community. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. H. J. Tomlinson.

CURRENT WIT and HUMOR

A Modern Maid of Athens.

A little Boston girl, with exquisitely long golden curls and quite an angelic appearance in general, came in from an afternoon walk with her nurse, and to her mother: "Oh, mamma, a strange woman on the street said to me: 'Mm, but ain't you got beautiful hair!'"

The mother smiled, for the compliment was well merited, but she gasped as the child innocently continued her account:

"I said to her: 'I am very glad to have you like my hair, but I am sorry to hear you use the word 'ain't!'"—Lippincott's.

New and Novel.

"I've got a ripping idea for a moving picture film. Something absolutely new and novel."

"What is it?" asked the excited manager.

"Let us have a scene showing a young woman doing the housework while her mother is strumming the piano or manicuring her nails."

She Wanted Him.
"Mr. Thimble has asked if he might call tonight. I think he wants to tell me that he loves me," said Miss Yarnier.

"Oh," replied her sister, "that goes without saying."

"Yes, and I'm afraid that he will, too,"—Catholic Standard and Times.

No End in Sight.

"We have now the super-dread-naught."

"And soon we'll have the super-super-dread-naught."

"Oh, the international game of bluff will be cheerfully continued."

GOT $1,000 A NIGHT.

She—Every time Screecher, the grand opera tenor, gets a sore throat it costs him a thousand dollars.

He—Gee! His throat must be as big as a giraffe's.

Why Will They?
"I'll from eating ptomaines." My! How that headline clings.

People eat such things.

An Overflow.
"What became of that five-foot shelf of yours?"

"Tore it down," replied Farmer Corn-tassel. "Why, I couldn't get the department of agriculture's publications for six months in that space!"

A Fanny Jar.
"I didn't get much of a man," snarled the wife.

"Well, you wouldn't expect a first class man to pick you out, would you?" was the gentleman's comeback.

And then the row was on full blast.

May Have Been Stung.
"Pa, what's the difference between an egg man and a vegman?"

"Sometimes, my son, the only difference is that one is spelled with a 'y' and the other without."

It Depends.
"Do you think I could touch Guy for a loan of an X or two?"

"Not if he's a wise guy."

SPEAR GOOD ENOUGH FOR HIM

One Experience With White Man's Weapon Was Enough for African Native.

When Mr. Montague, the English traveler, was in Africa, he gave to a native an old single-barreled gun, and the fellow was delighted. He put in a small handful of powder, and about a quarter of a newspaper on top of it, and finally a ball, and then rammed the whole charge down. Then he departed. In the evening he returned with his face battered and swollen almost beyond recognition. "What have you been doing?" asked the English man, in amazement. The native sat down on the ground and said sorrowfully: "A little after noon I found the track of elands, and I followed it until I found them feeding. I crept up to one of them. He was twenty yards away. I rested the barrel of the gun on a stone, placed the butt against my nose, directed the muzzle toward the eland, and pulled the trigger. I do not know what happened for I was blind and deaf for some time, but when I came to I found myself lying at the bottom of the gully. The gun was beside me, my face was as you now see it, and the elands had gone away. Son of a white man, it was very kind of you to give me a gun, but it is too good a gun for me—too strong, too powerful. It needs the wisdom of a white man to rule it. Take it back. Farewell!"

Japanese Pastime.
Combats between animals of different species are a source of great amusement among the Japanese. One of the most popular contests is that between monkey and goose. The monkey is tied to one of the goose's legs, by means of a cord, and both animals are set down near the bank of a river, or pond. The goose, standing in a row of the monkey, seeks for safety in the water, and the monkey, afraid of the water, exerts himself to the uttermost not to be drawn into it. As a rule, the goose draws the monkey into the water, and then the cunning animal sits astride of the goose, in equestrian fashion. The goose then tries to dive, and the monkey prevents her if he can; and so the fight goes on until the spectators tire, and the animals are released from an uncongenial companionship.

Saved By His Wife.

She is a wise woman who knows just what to do when her husband's life is in danger, but Mrs. J. Flint, Breintree, Va., is of that kind. "She insisted on my using Dr. King's New Discovery," writes Mr. F. "for a dreadful cough, when I was so weak my friends all thought I had only a short time to live, and it completely cured me." A quick cure for coughs and colds, it is the most safe and reliable medicine for many throat and lung troubles—grip, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, quinsy, tonsillitis, hemorrhages. A trial will convince you. 50 cts. and $1.00. Guaranteed by R. E. McRoberts & Son.

WATCH YOUR HAIR LADIES.

Eternal Vigilance is the Price of Luxuriant and Radiant Hair.

If dandruff germs are devouring the nourishment that belongs to the hair, it will soon begin to fall. Furthermore it will lose its life and lustre and will become dull, faded and even gray.
If you have any signs of dandruff, go right to your druggist to-day and get a 50-cent bottle of PARISIAN Sage. This delightful hair tonic is guaranteed by R. E. McRoberts & Son to kill dandruff germs, clean the head of filthy dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp, and preserve the color and beauty, or money back. And it does just what it is guaranteed to do and that's why its sales are so enormous the country over. PARISIAN Sage is the favorite of refined women. One bottle proves its superiority.

Color of the Eye.
Brown eyes are due to a brown pigment laid down in the iris; blue eyes are due to lack of such pigment. When both parents are brown-eyed the children get the tendency to form iris pigment from both sides of the house, and the condition of the pigment is said to be duplex. If the children get the tendency from one parent only, they will have brown eyes, but the condition is said to be simplex. Two parents lacking brown in the iris (blue-eyed) will never have children with brown eyes, but only with blue eyes. If both parents have brown eyes simplex, then one in four of the children will have blue eyes. If one parent has simplex brown eyes and the other has blue eyes, one-half of the children will have blue eyes. But if in both or either one of the parents the blue iris pigmentation is duplex, all of the offspring will have brown eyes.

RELIEVES CATARRH IN ONE HOUR.

The quickest and easiest way to open up your mucus clogged head and free the throat from Catarrhal secretions is to breathe Booth's HYOMEI.
Don't waste time with impossible methods; HYOMEI has ended the misery of Catarrh for thousands of despairing sufferers; it will do the same for you if you will give it a fair trial. Just breathe it; it kills Catarrh germs and banishes Catarrh. A HYOMEI outfit, which includes inhaler, nebulizer, 50¢. Separate bottles, if afterwards needed 50¢. at all druggists everywhere. Money back from R. E. McRoberts & Son if dissatisfied.

Good Roads.

Commissioner of Public Roads R. C. Terrell, of Kentucky, has announced that he will use every effort to bring about a big attendance of farmers at the two days good roads meeting to be held at Mammoth Cave Ky., October 4 and 5. Kentucky, Indiana and Tennessee will be represented and, from present indications, hundreds will be on hand. Not only will good roads, and how to build them, be discussed, but a round of entertainment will be provided which will be well worth enjoying. A barbecue of the real old-fashioned kind will be included.

The value of good roads as a commercial asset to the farmer is to-day recognized in all sections. Indiana has proved this in many instances, as has Kentucky and Tennessee. What is wanted is more good roads, as these mean more valuable farms and better access for the farmer to the markets. Instructive and practical talks from representatives of the Director of Public Roads, Washington; the agricultural departments of the three states interested and various commercial bodies, will be made. It will be shown that the good roads proposition is of vital interest to the farmer, first, and to others, later. What benefits the farmer is certain to benefit the cities. United States Senators, representatives in congress, governors, and states and county officers, by the dozen, have sent in strong letters approving the character of the meeting.

Dr. Ben Bruner, of Louisville; former Mayor Charles Bookwalter, of Indianapolis; Governor Ben Hooper, of Tennessee; Mr. Charles C. Gilbert, of Nashville, and a dozen others will be heard in course of the meeting. But, as before stated, it will not be all work and no play. There will be diversions of pleasant character. When the meeting adjourns it is believed a long step will have been taken toward cementing the bonds of friendship between the states represented and a long step taken toward the final achievement of the best public highways in the United States to connect and cross Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Along the old Louisville and Nashville pike, in Tennessee, farmers gladly pay $1.00 per acre on their land for the purpose of raising a fund to make improvements. J. H. Roney, of Cotton-town, Tenn., who owns 165 acres has donated $200, a team and gravel. J. A. McDaniel, of Uno, Hart County, Ky., is doing fine work in his section toward bringing about more good roads.

A Log On The Track.

of the fast express means serious trouble ahead if not removed, so does loss of so appetite. It means lack of vitality, loss of strength and nerve weakness. If appetite fails, take Electric Bitters quickly to overcome the cause by toning up the stomach and curing the indigestion. Michael Hessheimer of Lincoln, Neb., had been sick over three years, but six bottles of Electric Bitters put him right on his feet again. They have helped thousands. They give pure blood, strong nerves, good digestion. Only 50 cents at R. E. McRoberts & Son.

Women as Preachers.

One reason why women are forbidden to preach the gospel is that they would persuade without argument and reprove without giving offense.—John Newton.

Fortunes In Faces.

There's often much truth in the saying "her face is her fortune," but its never said where pimples, skin eruptions, blotches, or other blemishes disfigure it. Impure blood is back of them all, and shows the need of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They promote health and beauty. Try them. 25 cents at R. E. McRoberts & Son.

HAVE GOOD IDEA OF DRESS

Many Men Possess the Artistic Eye When It Comes to Matter of Feminine Drapery.

There is an old tradition to the effect that men lack discretion as well as artistic eye in the selection of a becomingly gowned woman. A man notoriously at sea in the matter of feminine frocks was asked to design what to his mind was a graceful dress for the beautification of the womanly figure. The result not only vindicated men of the charge of ignorance concerning the becoming feminine drapery, but established for him a wisdom and artistry in designing that many devotees of the latest sartorial spasm, be it modestly pretty or darglingly ridiculous, will do well to cultivate.

The fabric of the gown evolved by the mere man was a soft clinging crepe de chine of shadowy blue tone. It was cut in kimono fashion, with loose-hanging Oriental sleeves. The neck was slightly rounded out to show the smooth, white column of the throat, and the gown hung free from the shoulders, falling in long, sweeping lines, with just a suspicion of a sweep at the back. In front an elongated buckle of the blue material, embroidered with dull gold threads, held a wide circle which was wound around the waist empire fashion, tied in an odd knot, with short upstanding loops in the back, from whence long, loose ends, finished with gold and blue, fell to the bottom of the skirt. The sash gave a slightly empire effect, and the whole gown appeared to swathe the figure in folds of pastel blue. Such a gown must in the very nature of itself, conceal any offending angular lines, just as it would of necessity heighten the symmetry of the softly curving ones. Grace of carriage and elegance of attire were its indubitable followers, so much so that one wonders why the distress and fatigue of countless hours at the dressmaker's are endured, when art is so very simple.

Utilitarian.

"Are you in favor of the half cent?" "Yes," replied Mr. Dropline; "but they ought to make the coins with holes in them."
"What for?"
"They would come in so handy when ever you happen to need a sinker."

CRUEL OF HIM.

Wife—Do you believe in hypnotism, dear?
Hubby—Sure, otherwise I would still be a bachelor.

Yes, The Weather.

He poured his heart out to the maid of his existence?
And this was her reply:
"The heat's oppressive, I'm afraid 'Twill thunder, by and by."

Playing a Winner.

"You say you play every night at the Casino and never lose. How do you manage it?"
"I play the trombone!"—Pages Folies.

Men Hint.

He—That girl yonder is a perfect picture.
She—Yes, and so well painted.

A Modern Youth.

"Does he call her the morning star of his existence?"
"No. He says she's the Great White Way of his life."

Its Advantage.

"The public has a short memory."
"That's the reason the politicians don't want to tax it."

CHARLIE WHITEMOON, the Cow Boy Herbalist

3729-31 W. Broadway, Louisville, Ky.

Deep down in every human heart lies a NATURAL desire for NATURE'S medicines, Roots & Herbs. Too long have the secrets of nature been neglected, too long have people disregarded God's promises. Modern doctors think only of "operations" & strong drugs, while human suffering & deaths from disease increase rapidly every year. Health is natural, disease unnatural. My years of experience as a Cow-boy & among the Indians give me a peculiar fitness & knowledge of the powers of Roots & Herbs as medicines, my remedies have cured & are curing Blood Poison, Lung Trouble, Kidney, Bladder, Liver, Female & Skin diseases, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Catarrh, Stomach Troubles that were pronounced incurable by the best doctors. I want to PROVE this to the world & to anyone asking, I will mail the greatest book of its kind ever published, entitled "THE COW-BY HERBALIST," absolutely free. If you are not enjoying ALL the blessings of perfect health, your duty demands that you INVESTIGATE MY CLAIMS. All letters of inquiry promptly answered.
COM-CEL-SAR is the name of my great TONIC, BODY-BUILDER, composed of 16 Roots & Herbs, makes 3 full quarts of medicine, lasts about 3 months, costs only one dollar & is LEGALLY GUARANTEED to satisfy THE PURCHASER or money refunded. COM-CEL-SAR is sold BY ALL DRUGGISTS & DEALERS IN MEDICINE for the nerves, stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, bladder & blood. A household remedy most excellent. Ask for COM-CEL-SAR, if your druggist hasn't got it or won't get it, I WILL FILL YOUR ORDERS POSTAGE PAID.

 Net Raney, and little Miss Josephine Raney have been visiting relatives in Richmond.

The Woman's Missionary Society
 will meet Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Presbyterian church. All of the members are most cordially invited.

Mrs. Samuel Cotton, and Mrs. J. L.
 Riley attended the Woman's Missionary convention which was held at the Baptist church in Stanford last Thursday.

Mrs. Wm. Champ and little daughter Hazel have been in Louisville and accompanied Mr. Champ home he being much improved since his recent operation for appendicitis.

Reverend C. C. Brown, Mrs. Brown and two bright children and Mrs. Mary Taylor left this week to reside in Louisville. Their address will be 2745 Field Avenue Louisville.

Mrs. Robert Burton gave a most elaborate course dinner at her inviting country home, the guests of honor being Messdames Joseph and Davis, Messrs Adolph and Arthur Joseph and Miss Scotta Petty.

Mrs. C. C. Brown was hostess for a handsome "Reception" Monday evening at the parsonage to the members of the Presbyterian congregation. The number that were present showed the popularity of both Mr. Brown and Mrs. Brown. The tasty decorations and ices served added much to the enjoyment of the occasion.

The following invitations have been forward to friends and relatives at a distance:

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Tindler request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter,
 Frances Crenshaw
 To
 Mr. Benjamin F. Robinson
 Wednesday evening, October the sixteenth
 Nineteen-hundred and twelve at 8 o'clock
 Christian church Lancaster, Ky.

No invitations have been issued here,
 as it is understood that the many Lan-and Garrard friends of the popular young couple will gather to witness the happy consummation.

Mr. Horace L. Walker left on last Sunday for Louisville where he will spend the next year putting the finishing touches on his legal education.

An elaborate social function was the entertainment held Monday evening at the Presbyterian Parsonage by Reverend and Mrs. C. C. Brown. The apartments were most beautifully decorated with all kinds of blossoms, vines and foliage great in profusion.
 The dining hall was handsome in its well arranged appointments.

The invitation list included the entire adult membership of the Presbyterian church, and a few intimate friends of the hostess.

In the receiving line were Reverend
 C. C. Brown, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Mary
 Taylor and Mrs. Ann Walker. Misses Sue Shelby Mason and Martha Kavanaugh served most graciously at the "Frappe bowl"

The guests departed with a mixture of pleasure and pain, pleasure for an enjoyable evening, and pain at the thought of the departure of the popular minister and his wife.

The Woman's Club held its opening fall session at the home of the president, Mrs. J. E. Robinson, preparatory to beginning the year's course of study.
 Mrs. Joe E. Robinson and Mrs. Theo Curry read instructive papers and Mrs. L. N. Miller and other musicians furnished enjoyable musical selections.

The artistic home of Mrs. Robinson was beautiful with decorations of the society colors, cut flowers, vines and autumn leaves. The refreshments were delicious. Mrs. John L. Anderson of Washington City, and Mrs. E.
 P. Bailey of Newman California pouring the chocolate, and Miss Martha Kavanaugh serving at the punch bowl.
 In outlining the year's work, the following were selected as leaders of the various departments, Mrs. R. E. Mc-Roberts "Literary Director", Mrs. J.
 L. Riley Library Extension, Mrs. J. B.
 Kinnaird School Improvement, Mrs. C.
 C. Brown Civics, Mrs. Theo Curry

Jack Frost Arrives.

Frost made its first appearance on the night of the 26th inst, not generally throughout the county, but in the more exposed places. Garrard county farmers are better prepared than ever was known for his arrival, most of the great tobacco crop being housed and all other crops that would suffer from his ravages being safely garnered.

Already In Eighth.

Everything is now in readiness for the Democratic campaign to proceed in the Eighth District, as the county campaign chairmen having been appointed by District Chairman S. M.
 Saufley, Stanford. The full list is as follows: Lincoln. W. L. McCarty; Adair, Rollin Hurt; Anderson, Wilkes
 A. Morgan; Casey, M. L. Sharpe; Boyle, R. G. Evans; Garrard, J. R.
 Mount; Madison, Elmer Deatherage; Jessamine, J. Norton Fitch; Mercer,

School Fair To Be Held Here On October 12th To Be Of Great Interest To Everyone

In addition to the splendid roster of speakers already announced for the coming School Fair, the following additional talent has been secured for the occasion: Prof. Milton Elliot of Frankfort, Prof. J. W. Ireland, Stanford and Hons. J. B. McFerran of Louisville and McHenry Rhoades of Frankfort. The exercises will be of more than passing interest, aside from some of the best speakers in the state, the children of the various schools of the county have prepared exercises suitable to the occasion, and there will be music both vocal and instrumental. Every person in the county who can do so should attend these exercises. The various school trustees of the county are especially urged to be present, as are the parents and patrons of the schools.

GOOD SOIL FOR BUSH FRUITS

Ground Between Rows Must Be Kept Fine and Mellow—Give Plenty Sunshine and Air.

The ground between the rows and around the bushes should be kept fine and mellow. If the soil is allowed to become hard and allowed to grow up in weeds and grass, the yield will be cut short, and the fruit will be small and of inferior quality. All bush fruits should be grown in wide rows, so the greater part of the cultivation can be done with the horse, hoe and cultivator. The proper distance to plant currants, raspberries, blackberries and gooseberries in the fruit garden is five feet apart each way for horse cultivation. For the small family garden, plant in rows five feet apart and three feet apart in the row. This will allow of the larger portion of the cultivation being done with the horse cultivator.
 The ground around the bushes must be broken up and mellowed with the hoe. Expert fruit growers maintain a dust mulch until the berries are half size, then a thick coat of long straw manure, grass or rotted leaves is spread over the entire ground about four inches thick. This much prevents the growth of weeds—keeps the soil cool and moist. When this method is followed, the field will be greater, the berries free of dirt and much larger size and of extra fine flavor. All fruit succeed best when given plenty of sunshine and air, along with intelligent culture. The common practice of planting the bushes along the garden walk or fence row is bad, as the bushes cannot be cultivated economically. The yield and size of the berries is greatly increased where there is a full supply of moisture. The irrigation for fruit and vegetables big surface flow and under ground irrigation is being extended as the result of tests made by practical men. The method of irrigation for vegetables and small fruits practiced by market gardeners of Boston has been found economical and profitable.

SUMMER PRUNING OF TREES

Cannot Profitably Be Done on Old, Stunted, Dying Trees—They Need Rejuvenation.

If the tree has a dense top, open up the center to permit sunlight and air to enter. Thin out the sides by removing from one-tenth to one-fourth of the branches, always cutting back

Apple Cluster showing apples at correct stage for second or apple worm spraying. Young fruit standing up with calyx lobes wide open ready to receive maximum dose of poison.

to a limb and never leaving a long stub to die or throw out a big crop of sprouts. Summer pruning cannot be profitably practiced on old, stunted, dying trees. They need rejuvenation, which comes with winter pruning, but may be profitably practiced upon old, thrifty, shy-bearing trees.

Large limbs can be removed at this time just as safely as at any other season of the year, only it is not advisable to remove too much of the top at once. Where great quantities of wood must be removed it is better to distribute its removal over a period of from two to three years, rather than entirely unbalance the tree's growth.

GOOD PLAN FOR DAIRY HOUSE

Demand Created by Recent Developments for Building Fulfilling Sanitary Requirements.

(By E. KELLY and K. E. PARKS.)
Recent developments in dairying have caused a large demand for a dairy house which will fulfill sanitary requirements and at the same time be practical and inexpensive. For those who are striving to improve the quality of their products, such a building is an absolute necessity. Milk which is poured or strained in the barn, or allowed to stand there, is apt to be

Inexpensive, Sanitary Dairy House.

contaminated by germs and to absorb stale odors. The best practice is to remove the milk to the dairy house as soon as each cow is milked. Milk should be cooled immediately, so the dairy house should be provided with proper facilities for this purpose.

While the dairy house should be conveniently located so that the milkers do not have a long walk from the barn, it must be so placed that it is free from contaminating surroundings.
It should be built on a well-drained spot, and the drainage of the dairy house itself should be carried well away from the building. If possible the ground should slope from the dairy house toward the barn, rather than from the barn toward the dairy house.

The principal purpose in building a dairy house is to provide a place where dairy products may be handled apart from everything else. To carry out this idea it is necessary to divide the interior of the building so that utensils will not have to be washed in the same room where the milk is handled. Thorough cleanliness must always be kept in mind; therefore there should be no unnecessary ledges or rough surfaces inside the building, so that it can be quickly and thoroughly cleaned. Ventilators are necessary to keep the air in the milk room fresh and free from musty and undesirable odors, and to carry off steam from the wash room. Windows are of prime importance, as they let in fresh air and sunlight, and facilitate work.
In summer the doors and windows should be screened to keep out flies and other insects.

It is imperative that there should be a plentiful supply of cold, running water at the dairy house. If it is not possible to have a regular water system, the supply may be piped from an elevated tank fed by a hydraulic ram, engine, windmill or hand pump.

For the proper sterilization of utensils an abundance of steam or hot water is needed. A pump or can may be clean to the eye and yet may carry numberless germs which will hasten the souring of the milk, cause bad flavor in butter or cheese, or spread contagion. After utensils are washed clean they should be either scalded with boiling water or steamed.

The dairy house should be so built that labor is economized to the greatest extent. To do this the building must be arranged so that unnecessary steps will be avoided.

Rations for Dairy Cattle.

The following general facts should be observed in raking up the ration for a dairy cow. A cow should be fed all that she will eat and digest well, giving due consideration to the cost, digestibility and composition of the food fed. The more palatable the food the greater quantity a cow will consume. Variety often increases palatability.

A part of the ration should be succulent in nature, as such food stimulates action in the intestinal tract, which stimulates vigor, thrift and health in the animal. Another important part of the food supply is water. Too often this is not given proper consideration.

Silo and the Dairy.

The careful farmer who gives his personal attention to the making and feeding of silage and is not satisfied with the result is yet to be heard from. The silo seems to be edging mightily near the cornerstone of successful dairying.

Do the Best We Can.

The best cows are none too good when measured by their profits, but all of us cannot afford to go out and buy the best; hence we should try and do the best we can with those we have until we can secure better.

Getting His Start

"We all have to have our beginnings," said the artist, as he put the finishing touches to a soap advertisement sketch of a bathroom interior.
"I was not always famous and prosperous. I have known the time when a sudden slight draft for less than four figures would have seriously embarrassed me."

"You figure in the cents in that statement, I suppose," said the studio lifter.

"I might even go as far as that," assented the artist. "Did I ever tell you how I got my start?" he continued.
"Well, I'll tell you; it was in triplicate portrait work."

"Portraits of triplets?" inquired the studio loafer. "Dobber told me he did time museum posters, too, at one time."

"He ought to have stuck to that branch art," remarked the artist.
"No, you misunderstand me. I'll tell you how it was. There was one winter I was pretty well on my uppers. At that time I got acquainted with Glotio Parkinson, and I tell you he was a godsend. He had a studio in the Grosvenor and he didn't use it nights, besides having a samovar that he got in the Ghetto and plenty of alcohol. The Grosvenor doesn't favor light housekeeping, but I was pretty careful how I threw my scraps out of the window."

"One day Parkinson gave an exhibition. He brought quite a few people in respectable circles and he thought there was a chance that some one of them might buy a picture of his if they got well under the influence of a proper atmosphere and Russian tea. I stuck up a few little things of my own with his to furnish the art atmosphere and he provided the tea and the samovar. It turned out all right.
There was a coal baroness among those present and I got her worked up to the point of ordering from me a portrait of her ten-year-old son for $50.
"She brought him around the very next day. Parkinson was a good fellow and he let me have the use of his shop for the job. We had a bully good dinner on the strength of the conditions anyway. The kid was a sallow-faced, skinny-like monkey, not at all like mamma, but I calculated I could idealize him by a wide stretch of my well-known imaginative faculty. He had one sitting that day. The next day for several other sittings his nurse brought him, and I want to say that I had the dickens' own time getting that imp to keep still. It didn't do any good to talk to him. All I got by that was sass—oh, the worst sort.
I just sweat blood for four days trying to get some sort of expression on that portrait that wasn't exactly diabolical and yet resembled the kid. At last I got it."

"Two days later the picture was done and the sigh of relief that I heaved made the windows rattle. I notified the baroness and she and the baron came to look at it. He seemed to have been brought under compulsion and to be but mildly interested.
I had learned that he was merely stepfather to the brat, so I didn't wonder so much at it. But the baroness threw fits of ecstasy over the picture and ordered two more at the same price, after trying in vain to beat me down."

"I won't tell you what I went through within the next month with the heir apparent, how day by day I grew to loathe the little wretch more and more. The dear angel had performed a large variety of interesting tricks around the place to relieve the monotony of the sittings, and he wound up by coming early one afternoon and coloring Parkinson's cherished Florentine prints in oil in our absence. When I remonstrated he gave me a choice line of sass, whereupon I took my little man across my knee and ladd merrily on."

"Nearly two weeks later the coal baron caught me in."

"Don't be alarmed," he said, as I retreated to the window. "I only called to pay you for the pictures. I believe this is the right amount."

"He laid a slip of paper on the table. It was a check for $100."

"I gasped."

"If you don't mind I would like to shake hands with you," he continued.

"I backed away."

"I see that you still fall to understand," he said. "I want to tell you, sir, that you have my entire sympathy and heartfelt thanks for the basting you gave that young one. I've often longed to do it myself. Frankly, sir, I envy you. By the way, if you can make it convenient to call at my office I have something there I would like to talk to you about. No, don't say you are sorry. Please don't say that. I'm pressed for time now, but I hope to see you soon. I think the check is right, isn't it? Thank you very much. Good day."

"He shook hands with me solemnly
but vigorously and then turned suddenly and bolted. I called on him and we got quite chummy. He had some illustrating for a railroad that he ran as a side issue and I did it for him. I may say that he discovered me. I knew that if it hadn't been for the way he bowed me among his money at faintances I would have been comparatively obscure and unknown today."

"Dobber for basting, eh?" said the studio loafer.

"You can't keep genius down," said
the artist.

The Newsboy Cripple

"Cheese it, fellers, cheese it! The cop!"

There was a scurrying of feet and a confusion of grimy hands in the struggle to recover the dice and pencils scattered within the snug circle of excited newsboys gathered far up D—lane enjoying, apparently heedless of consequences, a midday game
of much-forgotten "crap."

In the wild scramble to save their "gumming implements" and nevertheless escape the bluecoated official striding upon them, nobody thought of poor Billy. But, with his papers under one arm, his crutch resting beneath the other and an empty trousers leg dangling in the breeze, Billy,
with his companions, sought self-preservation.

D—lane, for the surefooted was none too good walking, and a treacherous spot found Billy in his misfortune and brought him heavily to the ground, his papers in an untidy pile beside him and the crutch clutch beyond his reach.

The corners of his mouth drooped ever so little as he looked up from his uncomfortable position and beheld the officer towering above him.

"Well, my lad, you seem to be the one to go along with 'me. All the rest have made good to get out of the way. I'm mighty sorry I've got to take you—one of the others would have suited me better—much better.
But the sergeant detailed me especially to stop this crap shooting. He says it can't go on."

The policeman spoke not unkindly,
but Billy, from his seat of earth,
heard, and knew that a plea for release would be wasted.
"Here's your crutch, my boy. Come on."

"Aw, let him off, can't yer?"
Billy and the policeman wheeled about at this unexpected interference from the rear. There, crawling from beneath an empty barrel set forth by one of the many restaurants along the lane, his face and hair generously streaked with a covering of flour taken on in his place of refuge, came a boy not much larger than Billy himself—one of the circle of former "crap shooters."

"I say, Billy ain't done nothin'. He wasn't shootin' with the bunch. The last I see of Billy he was settin' there eatin' his handout. Weren't you, Billy?" Billy nodded complacently.
"Yer plumbin', a 'necient man, boss; straight goods."

"Now," the boy went on pushing his hands deep into his pockets and broadening his base, "now, I'm one of the bunch. I've got a pull with the gang.
If I do say it myself, and if—if—you—could only let Billy off—'cause he ain't done nothin' anyhow—I'll use my 'floodence with the crowd to stop the shootin'—after—I—get—out—of the lockup."

For an instant a gleam of merriment beamed in the officer's eyes, and it was with difficulty that he restrained a burst of genuine laughter.
"But I can't do that for you; I can't let either of you off," he said,
at last. "You know right from wrong and—ah, here comes the sergeant—we'll let him settle it."

Billy shrank closer to his champion as he felt his own tiny atom of self completely overshadowed by this formidable giant with shining buttons and chevrons. The contact lent the intercessor strength for a final appeal.
"Sergeant, can I speak to you for Billy? I don't mind for myself, but Billy just can't go to the lockup."

Nervously the child's fingers locked and interlocked, but his gaze met that of the stalwart officer of the law unflinchingly. Breathlessly, he rushed
on.

"Billy's mother is home sick in bed.
She's what you call an invalid. Sometimes she can work and help out and sometimes Billy's got to do it all himself 'cause he ain't got no brothers nor sisters, nor no father—just his mother. So we fellers found him a good stand up in the square, but he can't run after trade since he's lost his leg. Some swell guy run over him with his auto and never stopped to say howdy or good-by, and Billy's been up against it ever since and—
and—shall I tell it, Billy, 'bout singin' the dice?" Billy hesitated. "Shall I, Billy? It's up to you."

Billy tried to grasp the significance of this sudden bestowal of responsibility and bowed a bewildered approval.
"Well, then, 'bout this game o' crap, sergent." The boy lowered his eyes and poked the dirt with the toe of his muddy boot.

"About this game of crap—Billy's business hasn't been rushing lately and so we rather planned to give him
a boost with a crap game nighttime, till his ma got better. Some o', the crowd got more'n you'd think out of their papers and they have a pocket-ful left for themselves. So they put a good bit of it up in a game o' crap for Billy, just to boost him along.
That's what we was doin' today, ser-gent, but we got pinched. If you could only let Billy off—if—you—
"That will do, my boy." The ser-gent's voice was very gentle. "You tell the rest of the boys they must never throw dice again, never. Tell them to 'boost' Billy some other way.
Now, get your papers and hustle business."
